The ALOGIC Ultra USB-C to Dual HDMI Adapter with Passthrough Charging connects your USB-C (Windows or Chromebook) or Thunderbolt computer to up to two HDMI screens and fast charging for your laptop.

The cable supports display resolutions up to 4K Ultra HD (3840 x 2160) at 60Hz and has been designed with premium materials to produce a product which is both elegant and robust.

Single Cable Convenience

Being able to display video on up to two monitors as well as charging your laptop using a single port makes this product a minimalist alternative to a traditional desktop docking station, reducing the number of cables strung across your desk.

Many notebooks and other portable devices only have one USB-C port capable of outputting video which is the same USB-C port that is used to charge them. This adapter is perfect for these machines as it can perform both duties at the same time.

The adapter's 100W charging capacity when paired with a suitable power adapter is the highest supported by the USB-C Power Delivery 3.0 standard and is suitable for charging most modern laptops including 16" MacBooks. The adapter also works standalone and will still output video when a power adapter is not connected.

ALOGIC's Rapid Power USB-C GaN power adapters WCG1X100 make a great companion to this product to allow you to keep one power adapter plugged in at your desk and another one stashed in your bag for travelling.

Ultra Build Quality

The Ultra range of premium adapters are made from superior quality materials for ultimate style and durability. They are designed with a metal alloy jacket and soft touch/hard wearing TPE and ABS parts to provide additional support, finish and strength for long-lasting use. This ensures a finished product that meets and exceeds all expectations and performance standards.
